Collaborative Curricular and Research Initiatives funded by the Indo-Canadian Shastri Institute:

Gathering on Common Ground: Building Harmony Through Diversity in Canada and India, June 25-27, 2017. Member of the Workshop on Gender and Dispossession. In 2012, EktaParishad organized a 100,000 person, 350 kilometer march to New Delhi on the land rights issue. As a result of the march, the Indian government agreed to a 10-point roadmap to address this issue (<http://ektaparishad.com/en-us/campaigns/jansatyagraha2012/agreementonlandreforms.aspx>). The current government, elected in 2014, has not honoured this agreement, and large scale displacements continue to occur. To draw attention to this issue and compel the government to follow the agreement, EktaParishad is planning a 25,000 person march in October, 2018. Our workshop is currently developing strategies to aid this effort in conjunction with indigenous groups in Canada.

The Director of Cultural Studies, James Miller, and I led a delegation from Queen’s University to attend a workshop with the School of Media and Cultural Studies at the Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai, August 21-24, 2017. We were exposed to TISS’s award-winning community-based research that battles all forms of social exclusion and creates alternate media archives of memory and forgetting in the articulation of nation. We have laid the groundwork for an ongoing collaboration.
